About Me

A passionate web designer and programming enthusiast.

As a self-taught developer, I enjoy collaborating and solving programming problems.

My main goal is to continue training myself both in developing skills and on a personal level, which is why I dedicate myself to independently studying and exploring the different technologies and working methods that exist.

I currently have experience with various technologies, frameworks, libraries and programming languages.

Endless Curiosity: I'm always eager to learn new things, explore technologies, and discover creative ways to solve problems.

Adaptability and Resilience: I adapt flexibly to changes and tackle challenging situations with perseverance.

Infectious optimism: I approach challenges with enthusiasm and a positive mindset, inspiring those around me.

Teamwork and Collaboration: I enjoy collaborating harmoniously, sharing ideas, and supporting my teammates to achieve goals.
